I strongly support the cleanup of the Willamette near my home at 1260 NW Naito Pkwy for two major reasons:

- 1) were we to experience a slip in the Cascadia Subduction Zone, my neighbors and I will have to depend on water from the river for many daily needs. If the heavy metals in the sludge are stirred by a quake, the river water will be too poisonous for us to use.
- 2) I would love to wade into the river here in front of my home without concern for my health..in other words use the river for recreation with confidence.

As the population here in Portland expands, we need more places for people to enjoy the out of doors, why not include the banks of the Willamette among those places?
